

4th of July Parade

Fremont's 4th of July Parade is back for another year on Monday, July 4 at 10 a.m.!

This exciting event will include everything from unique floats, marching musicians, and massive balloons to old-school vehicles, drill teams, and more. The one-mile long parade will start on Paseo Padre Parkway at Stevenson Boulevard and run all the way down Paseo Padre and end at Capitol Avenue, lasting for about two hours. When attending the parade, please avoid parking your vehicle in the private lots surrounding the parade route. The parade is organized and funded by the Fremont 4th of July Parade, a 501(c)(3) nonprofit community organization. For more information, visit www.Fremont4th.org.

The Fremont 4th of July Parade Committee is looking for a large number of volunteers the day of the parade from 7:30 a.m. to 12 p.m. to help make this event a success! Consider volunteering as an individual or with a group. For information, visit www.Fremont4th.org/volunteer.

Downtown Fremont's 'Main Street' – Capitol Avenue – Nearing Completion Fall 2016

Phase II of the Capitol Avenue Extension Project will near completion fall 2016. The project encompasses improvements to the existing portion of Capitol Avenue from State Street to Paseo Padre Parkway, continuing the transformation of Capitol Avenue from the recently completed Capitol Avenue extension from Fremont Boulevard to State Street. These efforts transition Capitol Avenue into a multi-modal street with 10–15 foot sidewalks, bike lanes, street furniture, enhanced landscaping, and free public parking.

In February and March, the City of Fremont contracted with research firm FM3 to conduct telephone outreach to 600 randomly selected Fremont residents and registered voters to gather feedback for our community survey. We focused our questions on the quality of life in Fremont, how residents feel about the rate of City development, and their thoughts on local government projects, initiatives, and funding.

As your city manager, I was pleased to see that all in all, our residents are happy to call Fremont home. Here are just a few key takeaways I'd like to share from the 2016 community survey:

- 4 out of 5 Fremont residents rate the quality of life as "good" or "excellent" — many call it a great place to start a family and/or retire.
- Residents feel safe walking the streets and general concerns about crime have decreased.
- Most residents feel positive about development in Fremont overall, with more than 75 percent in support of Fremont's move toward transit-oriented development.
- More nightlife and entertainment options are of interest.
- Many see Fremont as part of Silicon Valley and associate it with cleantech and manufacturing.
- The biggest concerns are traffic, growth, and the cost of housing — which is consistent with the rest of the Bay Area.
- Services like public safety are seen as most crucial, but are also the services that residents are most satisfied with.
- Residents are particularly happy with parks and city cleanliness, and that road repair is moving forward; however, street maintenance is still an area of improvement.
- Satisfaction levels with civic and community engagement services, as well as social services, has remained positive and steady.

Visit www.Fremont.gov/CommunitySurvey to view the community survey in its entirety.

In addition to the community survey results, I'm pleased to report that the City Council approved the annual operating budget for next fiscal year, which begins on July 1, and the City of Fremont's outlook continues to improve. Our Fiscal Year 2016/17 General Fund budget includes additional public safety staffing, expanded library hours, and increased funding for social services grants.

Our path is clear. We will work hard to ensure Fremont continues to be a financially sound, innovative, and desirable city to live and work.

Fremont Fire and Police Departments Rescue Task Force Training Put to Use

Over the last few years, the Fremont Fire Department (FFD) and the Fremont Police Department (FPD) have worked together to maximize public safety and implement rescue task force procedures for potential public emergencies. Both departments have also worked on a concept called unified command, which focuses on bringing all leadership together to provide efficient decision-making and clear direction to responding personnel in a time of emergency.

In the fall of 2015, FFD and FPD continued their planning efforts further by creating a rescue task force training that all personnel, as well as personnel from several outside public agencies, would attend over a six-day period.

On Monday, March 7, right on the heels of this rescue task force training, FFD and FPD responded to Niles Canyon reports of a derailed ACE train. FPD and FFD personnel were among the first to arrive on the scene and they played a significant role in the immediate rescue of injured passengers. During debriefs of the incident, City personnel identified direct lessons learned during the rescue task force training that were applied to the real life event, including working in a chaotic mass-casualty environment, providing first aid to the injured, establishing a casualty collection point, and establishing a unified command with all responding public safety departments.

There is no doubt that the emphasis placed on joint operational training between FFD and FPD played a big role in the success of the ACE train response by all of Fremont's public safety personnel. We greatly appreciate their efforts in this coordinated response.

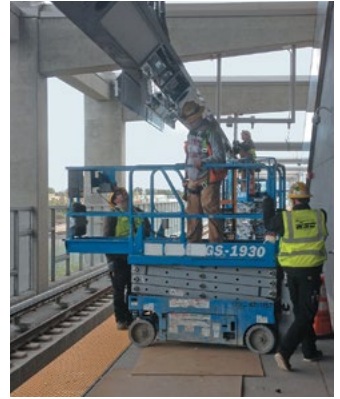

Join in on America's Night Out Against Crime

The 33rd Annual National Night Out is set for Tuesday, August 2. This night is meant to heighten crime and drug prevention awareness; generate support for and increase participation in local anticrime programs; strengthen neighborhood spirit and police-community partnerships; and send a message to criminals letting them know that neighborhoods are organized and serious about combating crime. Last year's National Night Out campaign included citizens, law enforcement agencies, civic groups, businesses, neighborhood organizations, and local officials from more than 10,000 communities across all 50 states, U.S. territories, Canadian cities, and military bases worldwide. Join us this year by organizing, registering, and hosting a block party to bring awareness. Block parties can be small or large, include anything from barbecue to ice cream, and serve as a place for neighbors to share good food, laughter, and remind neighbors how to keep the neighborhood safe.

Register your National Night Out party to be considered for a visit by the Police Department, Fire Department, or other City staff and volunteers. We will do our best to visit all first-time registered parties or groups who have never had a visit from Police or Fire. Registration will be open through July 28. Visit www.FremontPolice.org/NNORegistration for complete details. If you have questions about National Night Out in Fremont, call 510-790-6740.

Transportation Update

BART Station Moves Closer to Finish Line

Drive by the Warm Springs/South Fremont BART Station construction site and it looks nearly finished. Although the exterior of the station is mostly in place, a look inside would show that there are crews working tirelessly to install lights, plumbing, fare gates, ticket machines, bike racks, and all of the furniture. In addition, there is a multi-phase system testing period underway, which will be followed by systems integration with the BART infrastructure itself. The new station is situated in the heart of the Fremont Innovation District and will offer riders an easy, accessible way to connect to regional transportation. The Warm Springs/South Fremont Station is expected to open for service in the third quarter of 2016.

This newest line extension will take BART 5.4 miles south into the Warm Springs District, and then connect later with the Silicon Valley/San Jose Extension. The station will offer more than 2,000 parking spaces, as well as bike lockers, bike racks, bike lanes, a Bus Transit Center with seven bus bays, and areas for taxis, private shuttles, and “kiss-and-ride” drop-off. The station will also feature the largest integrated art installation in the entire BART system.

Some impressive environmental components have been included as well. Bio-filtration swales will contribute to higher water standards, with plants that filter out sediment and pollutants before entering the Bay via storm drains. Smart energy use will be facilitated by photovoltaic (solar) energy panels that will power nearly the entire station.

Greening Fremont

Fremont Launches Climate Action Engagement Platform

The City of Fremont has launched a new residential climate action engagement platform called the Fremont Green Challenge. Dubbed a “Fitbit® for Sustainability,” the Fremont Green Challenge website offers residents all the information they need to save energy, water, and money, all while reducing their impact on climate change!

The Fremont Green Challenge platform provides a menu of actions you can choose from for topics such as energy efficiency, smart transportation, water conservation, home energy systems, and food and waste. Actions range from easy to challenging, and contain the latest relevant technologies, tips, and resources to help you lower your impact in an easy, fun, and cost-effective way.

For users who set up a personal account and complete a brief household profile, the Fremont Green Challenge platform creates custom savings and impact estimates. Users earn points for every action taken, and each point is equivalent to one pound of carbon emissions reduced in our community. Residents can also share information and resources with one another and work together in teams and affiliation groups (like schools or community organizations) to compete for top rankings.

The Fremont Green Challenge will prove how innovative our community can be at reducing the impacts of climate change, bringing us one step closer to taking home the $5 Million Georgetown University Energy Prize. So take the Fremont Green Challenge now to help create a clean, vibrant, and healthy future for our community! To learn more and get started, visit www.Fremont.gov/GreenChallenge.

City to Install LED Streetlights

As part of the efforts to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and energy costs while also improving roadway visibility, the Fremont City Council in May approved a contract to upgrade all streetlights to LED technology. Replacement of over 14,000 streetlights will begin later this summer with completion anticipated toward the end of the year. The new lights will reduce energy consumption, greenhouse gas emissions and utility costs by 40 percent to 60 percent, as well as reduce maintenance costs and provide clearer illumination. The City will also upgrade interior and exterior lighting and install water-saving fixtures and irrigation controls at City facilities, consistent with the City's Climate Action Plan. For project updates, visit www.Fremont.gov/LEDStreetlights.

Harness the Power of Solar with East Bay SunShares

Thinking about installing solar but don't know where to start or think it's just too expensive?

This summer, the City of Fremont is launching a second round of East Bay SunShares, a solar group-purchasing program that makes going solar easier and more affordable than ever for residents. By pooling the buying power of individual participants, SunShares is able to negotiate more competitive pricing from solar companies. Cities throughout Alameda and Contra Costa counties are joining the group solar effort this year, and we are layering on an electric vehicle discount option, too! Imagine the possibilities: Save on your home utility bills, cut your gas costs, reduce your greenhouse gas footprint, and drive on pure sunshine! Plus, you'll be doing your part to help Fremont win the $5 Million Georgetown University Energy Prize.

Pet Licensing

Did you know? Many people have questions when it comes to licensing their pets. Here are some common questions and the answers.

Why do I have to license my dog/cat?

It's the law! Pet licensing is not only required by the City of Fremont, but also by the State of California. The purpose of licensing your pet is for disease control. Dog and cat licensing provides a required central registry of rabies vaccinations which becomes critical in animal bite incidents, and in the event of a rabies outbreak.

When do I license my pet and what do I need?

At the age of three months, your pet is old enough to receive a rabies vaccination. You should license your pet within 30 days of the vaccine. All you need in order to license is a current rabies certificate.

What if I move?

It is important to update the licensing department of any change of address. We want to help you remember to license your pet when it's time to renew, and need correct contact information for you in order to do that. If you move out of Fremont, you will need to license your pet in whatever city you move to. Previously paid fees for a Fremont license are not refundable.

What if my pet dies?

Please be sure to update the licensing department of any change of status for your pet. It is the pet owner's responsibility to inform us of a pet's passing, not your veterinarian's. Licensing fees are not transferrable to a new pet and are not refundable.

Useful facts:

- Should your pet become lost, they have a much higher chance of being returned to you quickly when they are wearing a license tag.
- If your pet is spayed or neutered, the licensing fee is half the price.
- Rabies vaccinations are good for either one OR three years.

For more information about pet licensing, contact the Tri-City Animal Shelter, located at 1950 Stevenson Blvd. in Fremont, or call 510-790-6644, Tuesday through Friday from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. and 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m.

Community Ambassador Program for Seniors Draws 100+ Volunteers

The City of Fremont's national award-winning Community Ambassador Program for Seniors

(CAPS) attracted over 100 volunteers — the most to date — for a two-day training program in April. Volunteers learned about topics including active listening skills, transportation services, housing options, end-of-life issues, social security benefits, and more. This was the sixth training to take place since the program's inception in 2007. Once trained, the CAPS Ambassadors conduct outreach to help connect families to local resources and services available to seniors in the community. Look out for CAPS volunteers at locations such as senior mobile home parks, senior centers, grocery stores, libraries, farmer's markets, and health fairs. For information, visit www.capseniors.org.

Downtown Fremont's 'Main Street' – Capitol Avenue

Considering connectivity between the Fremont BART station and Downtown is crucial. Phase III of Capitol Avenue improvements will enhance connections from Capitol Avenue across Paseo Padre Parkway and through the Gateway Plaza to the BART station with wider sidewalks, enhanced pedestrian lighting, new signage, improved bike lanes, and additional landscaping. Wayfinding and directional signage will be placed at strategic locations from the Fremont BART station to Downtown Fremont, and at other landmarks in the city to help bicyclists and pedestrians navigate their way to and from the station. Green bike lanes will also be installed on BART Way to enhance safety for bicyclists. Phase III is scheduled to start construction in spring 2017.

Are You in a Flood Hazard Area?

Visit FEMA's Flood Map Service Center

The City of Fremont has been a member of the National Flood Insurance Program since 1983 and has adopted a floodplain management ordinance to reduce flood risks for properties within Special Flood Hazard Areas. To assist communities, FEMA offers user-friendly tools that support the needs of the public in viewing, analyzing, and printing flood hazard maps on an online website called FEMA's Flood Map Service Center (www.msc.fema.gov). The Flood Map Service Center provides the ability to download maps and Letters of Map Change. It also provides a link to view flood hazard information as Geographic Information Systems data through a free interactive mapping application called the FEMA GeoPlatform. As the official public source for flood hazard information, the Flood Map Service Center is a great resource for novice and advanced users alike. For those who cannot access the online system, the City of Fremont Development Services Center, located at 39550 Liberty St., will continue to maintain copies of Letters of Map Change and Elevation Certificates.

Every Day Counts Campaign to Launch

FUSD is committed to academic achievement for their students and to Inspire, Educate and Challenge them both in and out of the classroom. A key factor in student achievement is daily attendance at school. Their motto is "Every Day Counts," which is supported through the Alameda County District Attorney's Office.

Fremont Unified, with the support from Tri-City Health Center, as well as the City of Fremont, is launching an Every Day Counts Campaign to emphasize the importance of everyday school attendance. As FUSD launches this campaign, look for Every Day Counts coming near you.

We encourage the entire community to get involved and learn more about Every Day Counts by visiting the FUSD website under Student Support Services/Attendance and Truancy at www.fremont.k12.ca.us/Page/278, or contact the FUSD office of Student Support Services at 510-657-2350.

FUSD Sixth-Grader Places 4th in State Spelling Bee

Abinayaa Murugupandiyam, Ardenwood Elementary School sixth grade student, placed an impressive fourth place in the California State Spelling Bee in Stockton on April 23.

After winning a second place trophy in the District Spelling Bee in January, Abinayaa won the Alameda County competition on March 12, earning a trip to the State Bee. Congratulations, Abinayaa!

Mission Valley Elementary Teacher Wins Outstanding Educator Award

Congratulations to Mission Valley Elementary School teacher, Michael Rivera, who received a Gold Award for Outstanding Educator by the California Teachers Association/Alameda & Contra Costa counties on April 23. The award exemplifies the high ideals of public education, the profession, and the Association. Nominees for the award include outstanding educators, whose impact on students is exemplary and who have provided specific contributions to education and students through innovative projects and/or remarkable successes. Michael Rivera grew up in Fremont, having attended FUSD schools from elementary through high school. After receiving his degree in British and American literature, he returned to Fremont and has dedicated himself to the students of FUSD ever since.

11 FUSD Elementary Schools Named California Gold Ribbon Schools

Food Scraps Recycling Now Available at Local Apartment Complexes

Food scraps don't need to be dumped in our trash! In fact, it introduces big problems to the environment when food and other organic waste fester in the landfill and give off harmful gases. Studies indicate that 44 percent of waste from Fremont's multi-family complexes can be composted. Recent state and county laws recognize this and require businesses and residents, including multi-family complexes, to arrange for compost collection. Until now, green bins for collecting yard trimmings and food scraps were only available to single family homes. Recent pilot studies have shown that residents living in multi-family complexes will do their part to put organic materials in the green bins, helping to reduce landfilled waste. Now apartment and condominium complexes can add composting to their recycling routine. Beginning in 2016, apartments, townhomes, and condominiums can add green bin service. When composting service is added, each residential unit will receive a small kitchen pail to use inside the home to collect compostable materials. The pail is then emptied into the green bin when needed.

Contact the City's Environmental Services Division to discuss options for your complex. City staff can meet with homeowner associations, property owners and managers, and help start food scrap collection where you live. Call 510-494-4570 or email environment@fremont.gov to learn more.

What goes in my green bin?

All food scraps should be put in the green bin including bones, meat, dairy, fruits, vegetables, coffee grounds, and other plate scrapings. You can also put in soiled paper like paper towels (food soiled or used for cleaning), napkins, tissues, pizza boxes, paper plates and cups, and paper takeout containers. Paper milk, juice, and ice cream cartons are also biodegradable and can be composted. These containers also make the perfect temporary food scrap bucket, so fill it with compostable scraps and take it out to the green bin for collection.

Keep your kitchen pail and green bin clean.

It's okay to use compostable bags to line your kitchen pail. These special bags labeled "Compostable" or "BPI Certified" are now found at most local retailers. Regular plastic bags are not compostable and should not be used. Use milk cartons, paper bags, newspaper, or other compostable items to hold your food scraps before placing them in the green bin. Or, you can place food scraps in the refrigerator or freezer and put them into your green bin the night before collection. Go green and use your green bin every week for food scraps!

Alsion Montessori visits Sabercat Creek

The win-win partnership between Alsion Montessori and the City of Fremont Environmental Services Division originally started back in September 2013, and has resulted in a monthly event ever since. For the City of Fremont, it increases community involvement and enhances native plant survivorship. The students are actively improving the health of the native trees and shrubs, which in turn help stabilize soils and creek banks, filter pollutants, and improve food and shelter for wildlife. The students get hands-on experience working directly with the environment and this helps to reinforce concepts they have been learning in class. They learn techniques for enhancing survival of desirable plants and for removing aggressive, invasive exotic plants that would otherwise outcompete native plants and reduce biodiversity. The students use the site for other lessons too, which include testing water samples from this creek as practice for testing they performed on a trip to Yosemite, identifying plant species in the field, and for simply taking a moment to enjoy the natural beauty and reflect on their role in the world. Encounters with wildlife provide additional highlights, from the frequently found worms, gastropods, and arthropods, to the more rare California alligator lizards, a variety of birds, and signs of black-tailed deer, the students' "oohs" and "ahhs" often rise above the sounds of the work around them.

To demonstrate their commitment to the site, Alsion Montessori students and staff recently adopted the Sabercat as their school mascot, cementing the bond they feel with this location. Most importantly, the work events expose the students to nature in a way they may not experience regularly in their daily lives and show them how close to nature their neighborhood actually is. It is a pleasure to see Alsion alumni return to Sabercat Creek to fulfill service learning hours during their high school years, and it is encouraging to know that these well-educated students will become environmentally conscious adults!

If you'd like to participate in volunteer work days at Sabercat Creek, visit www.Fremont.gov/SabercatRestoration, click on the Eventbrite link to see our current schedule of events, and register.

For more information or to arrange a large group work day, call the Environmental Services Division at 510-494-4570.
